Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

In the midst of war and politics comes a Red Cross clip sheet. It is like the interlude of a sweet old-time hymn in a program of martial music, or the fragrance of spring flowers beating through the noiseome odors of a carnal house. For there are reflected the best and the highest in human character. There is no bitterness of party strife, no thirst for war vengeance. One principal as old as human nature is there, exemplified in the Bible story of the good Samaritan; succor, charity and compassion for those in distress.

Under the auspices of the Red Cross and Harvard University, a group of 75 American doctors, technoligists and nurses will sail this month for England with all equipment to erect a semi-mobile hospital, laboratories and clinic, both to aid in the care of England's war casualties, and to study at first hand war pandemics in case these should occur. Influenza that scourged the world following the first World War, will be given especial study in an attempt to find a treatment that will at least reduce its mortality rate. In the United States alone 400,000 persons perished of influenza in the post-war year.

America's largest youth organization, the Junior Red Cross, with 8,500,000 members is engaged now in preparing 60,000 Christmas gifts for evacuated children in all the war-torn countries. These Red Cross juvenile workers have raised $200,000 for this purpose and already have 50,000 warm winter garments for the homeless, hungry children of Europe. These gifts will be distributed through the International League of Red Cross Societies in Geneva. The Red Cross Juniors are spending $20,000 in England to erect shelters for the children whose homes have been destroyed by bombs.

The Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers Union contributed to the Red Cross $10,000, each member of the union giving a half day's pay. We know from long experience that the most generous givers are those who have the least. It is here demonstrated again. Some of the members of this union returning to work from periods of illness or idleness, nevertheless contributed their half day's pay.

To "Greenland's icy mountains," where lives a colony of Danes completely cut off from Denmark and without any word of how their relatives fare under German warlords, the Red Cross is bringing messages of the long silent loved ones. These messages are routed through Washington and Geneva to the Danish Red Cross.

Four thousand Red Cross nurses are to be called to active duty by the army to care for the conscripted lads who will soon be in training. There are 17,000 nurses on the army's reserve corps. National defense measures, it is reported, will also entail the enrollment of nurses in other than strictly military activities. Edith Cavell left in the world a host of spiritual sisters.

Norman Davis, national Red Cross chairman, reports that since September 1, the Red Cross has spent or has arranged to spend $4,250,000 for British relief. Carried in British ships without charge and without loss of a single item, despite the blockade Gemany proclaims, the British are receiving some 200 articles including medical supplies, hospital equipment, ambulances, food, clothing and field kitchens. Acts of God, it is noted, such as earthquakes, hurricanes, great fires or virulent epidemics, come at length to a natural end, but the Nazi brutality and terrorism are plagues that only superior human force can stop.

We review this bulletin with interest because in a world in which ancient cathedrals, the homes of the humble and the palaces of kings, the useful structures and the revered institutions of civilizations that have been gradually built through the ages, are being trampled upon by demoniac monsters, blood lustful and exercising the arts of Lucifer, here burns the candle that lights our gloomy world. The Red Cross Roll Call begins November 11. Let us begin now to lay aside a little money week by week so that the total may be a worthy sacrifice to lay on the altar of Christian civilization.

Youth Held In Death Of Aged Man

George Riggs Dies Here From Auto Accident Injuries

William Wolfe, 18 year old You Bet youth, is held in the Placer County jail in Auburn, charged with negligent homicide as the result of the death of George T. Riggs, 70, of You Bet, in the Nevada County Hospital Friday. Riggs died from injuries suffered Thursday night when the car driven by Walf ran into a bank on the new highway near the Tony Petri home at Colfax, throwing Riggs through the windshield. Riggs was severely cut on the neck, throat, and the back of the head.

An autopsy performed by Dr. W. W. Reed at the Holmes Funeral Home in Nevada City revealed he died of shock and hemorrhage.

Charged With Homicide

Highway Patrolman Mel Shearer placed young Wolfe under arrest on a charge of drunken driving. Following the death of Riggs the charge was changed to negligent homicide.

Wolfe is reported to have admitted to District Attorney Lowell Sparks of Placer County he was drunk when the accident occurred. He told the authorities he and Riggs had left You Bet Thursday night and had purchased a case of beer at a beer parlor east of Colfax. He said he had passed out as the car was travelling over the Colfax overhead near the scene of the accident.

Riggs is an uncle of Charles Gearhart of the You Bet section and a brother of Mrs. John Sanders of Merced.

Partially Blind

Riggs, who had been patially blind for years, had been drawing state aid for the blind. He was a native and life long resident of the You Bet area.

Wolfe was one of several You Bet youths recently held in the county jail on suspicion of burglary. They were later released because of lack of evidence, however.

The body of Riggs was sent to the West Funeral Home in Colfax, where funeral services were held yesterday.

LAKESIDE BODY RENEWS PLANS FOR BUS LINE

The Lakeside Chamber of Commerce has renewed its efforts to obtain a regular passenger bus and mail service between Reno and Ukiah on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway.

H. F. Sofge, secretay of the local chamber, has received a letter from the Lakeside chamber requesting an answer to the two following questions:

1 What established bus service east and west of your city have you at present?

2 Do you believe an attempt to secure through bus service between Reno and Ukiah is justified at this time?

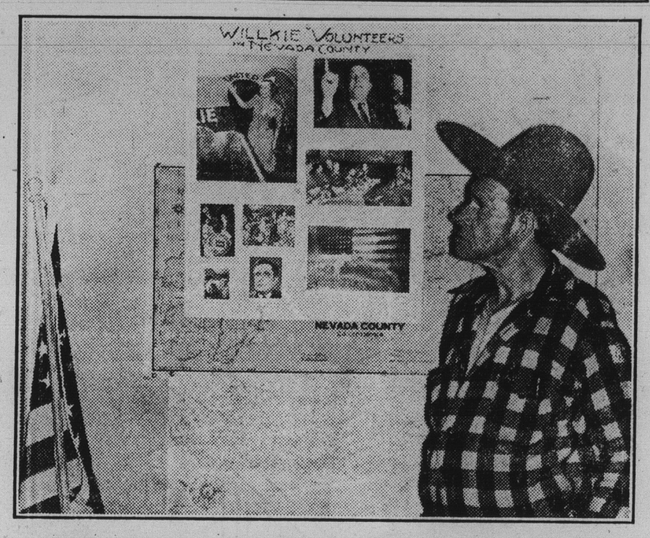
BANK EMPLOYEE IS TRANSFERRED

Vernon Rose, bookkeeper at the Nevada City Branch of the Bank of America for the past several months, has been transferred to Santa Rosa, where he was to begin work in the Bank of America Branch there today.

Santa Rosa is the home town of Rose. During the time he spent in Nevada City Rose made many friends, who were sorry to see him leave here.

Dan Ungaro, Roseville schoolteacher, visited relatives in this city during the weekend.

Paydirt in a Willkie Administration?



William "Tex" Straw illustrates again the significance of a straw in the wind. As may be perceived, he is gazing earnestly at the picture of the future First Lady as she steps from her car. It is easy to guess that the winsome Mrs. Wendell Willkie has won the vote of Nevada City's most picturesque he-man for her crusading husband in his campaign for the Presidency.

Local Men Will Join Those In Other Parts Of The Country In Registering Wednes. For Draft

More than 2,000 men in Nevada County between the ages of 21 and 35 will go to their voting precincts Wednesday to register under the requirements of the selecttive service act. The registration hours will be from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m.

As in an election, County Clerk R. N. McComack will have supervision of the registration. McCormack has appointed three registrars for each of the 42 precincts in the county, with a member of the Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post of the American Legion in charge of each precinct.

No Trouble Expected

The registering is expected to be quiet with no trouble anticipated.

County Clerk McCormack states that it is to every man's personal interest to see that he is registered. Failure to comply with the governmental act requiring the registration carries a severe penalty, it was pointed out.

Exemptions are listed, if any, after the registration.

Any person living in Nevada County who is registered in another county need not return to his home precinct to register. He may go to the nearest registration board and the card will ultimately be sent back to his home precinct.

Arrangements have also been made for the registration of persons who are ill or confined to hospitals. One or more qualified persons may apply to the county clerk and upon presenting evidence that they are acting fo the ill man, may register for him.

Cards Presented

Each man registering will be presented with a bulletin of information and a registration card. The registrants will be placed in one of four classifications.

The first class is made up of those eligible for duty in the armed forces of the country.

The second class consists of those who are temporarily deferred because they are occupied in a type of work necessary to the country.

The third class includes those who are temporarily deferred because they have dependants.

The eligible men will be notified to take a physical examination, and those who are not fit will be placed in a fourth class who are temporarily deferred because of physical disabilities.

Accomplice Of William Haines Is Held In Jail

Charles Matlock, 18, is being held in the county jail here on a burglary charge, officers stating he was the accomplice of William Haines in the robbing of the Alpha Store here last week. Matlock was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Charles Morehouse in Grass Valley today.

Matlock was arrested in Reno, Friday night and Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen and Deputy Sheriff Chas. Ninnis went to Reno after him Saturday.

The arrest of Matlock resulted in the recovery of considerable of the loot taken from the Alpha Store in the robbery.

The search began for Matlock after Haines in his confession linked him to the burglary.

Haines waived his preliminary hearing and is to be arraigned in the superior court here on Friday.

Youngsters Will Form Wendell Willkie Club

A chapter of the Junior Willkie Volunteers, now organizing in all parts of California among boys and girls under 21 years of age, is being formed here under the auspices of the Willkie For President Headquarters at 304 Broad Street.

It is reported Nevada City youngsters are displaying as much enthusiasm for Willkie as their elders.

WHY I AM FOR WENDELL WILLKIE

By FRANK N. BELGRADO, JR.
Past National Commander American Legion, State Chairman Veterans' Division Willkie-McNary Campaign.

Because he is real all-American. And here are his qualifications for that team.

He loved America enough to fight for it. and if necessary to die for it, in 1917-1918. He enlisted one day after his country entered the World War and through sheer merit, not through pull or family name, rose to command a field artillery battery in France.

When the war was over he did not stop fighting. He enlisted for life in the peace time service of his country as a working member of The American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Opportunity did not come knocking at the door of youth in those dark post-war reconstruction days when he was mustered out of the service. But he knew that in free America opportunity always has a ready welcome for those who have grit and will to seek for it. So he went out to meet opportunity—and found it.

He had no great family name or wealth to open doors for him. He opened them himself and carved his own niche in life.

Because he started from total scratch and travelled the hard road to the top, he knows the problems of business and industry, upon which the men and women of America under any administration sooner or later must depend for jobs. By the same token he knows where improvements can and should be made.

Because he earned everything he has, and knows what it means to meet a payroll, he understands the value of a dollar—and the importance of sound credit, whether it be the government's or that of a mere business house.

He has a heart, and a genuine love for his fellow men. He gave freely of his time and talent helping his men out of scrapes during that dread let-down period between the end of the bloodshed and the slow return to civilian life. In the years after, his help was ever available without cost to those thousands of veterans who needed legal help straightening out service records. And in the exhilaration of success, never forgot his humble origin or those he passed on the way up. I have never heard anone, even in the heat of bitter political campaign, accuse him of a single provable dishonest or dishonorable act.

As a soldier he saw war—real war—total war. Having seen it he wants no more of it. So he can be relied upon to exhaust every decent means to keep war from America's shores and restore peace abroad.

As a sodier he also knows the dread price of national unpreparedness—and as a successful business executive he knows how to get the strongest national defense in the least possible time at the lowest feasible cost to the taxpayer.

And now, in the presence of another national crisis, he is ready to put aside his high place in the business world and give himself again to the duty and grave responsibility of defending America against moral and economic collapse from within and military attack from without.

These are the reasons why I am for Wendell Willkie for President of the United States—and his qualifications to be called all-American.

Cecil and Robert Schiffner Visit—

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schiffner of this city had as guests during the weekend two of their sons, Cecil Schiffner, who is with the United States Navy, and Robert, who is attending law school at the Univesity of California.

Fire Bug Frustrated By Police

Partner Arrested Also On Charge Of Hit-Run Driving

Two river prospector partners are held in the city jail here, one on a charge of hit-run driving and the other on suspicion of breaking into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pentico on East Broad Street and Nivens Lane.

Dewey Price was taken into custody several hours after his car reportedly struck the machine of Malcolm Graham near the Methodist Church on Broad Street.

Chief of Police Max Solaro apprehended Price's partner, J. A. Hamilton, after the Penticos called the police to complain he attempted to set their home on fire. Hamilton allegedly gathered wood from the Penticos woodshed and placed it at various strategic spots about the house and apparently was preparing to apply a match to the wood when noticed. Previously the Penticos had ejected him from their home after he had unceremoniously walked in. Hamilton broke a large window of the house.

Report Prowlers!

Because of repeated acts of petty theft and reports of prowlers about the city, Chief of Police Max Solaro today urged the residents of Nevada Cit to lock their doors when away from home.

During the past few weeks several homes have been entered and articles stolen. In many instances prowlers have been seen about homes.

Chief Solaro said to call the police department immediately if you see anyone prowling about your home.

Chief Solaro is continuing his investigation into the case. He said a felony charge of breaking into a home may be filed against Hamilton.

Price, who Chief Solaro says has been in difficulties with the law before, will probably be charged with hit and run driving. Graham yesterday identified Price as the driver of the car which struck his machine.

Graham stated he saw Price driving his automobile in an erratic manner up Broad Street. Graham brought his car to a stop but his caution was of no avail for the on-chine, damaging one side. Graham coming auto struck the Graham mastated Price continued on after the accident. He was taken into custody at his home near Perdun's Bridge early yesterday morning.

HISCOX ARRESTS THREE ALLEGED SPOTLIGHTERS

With the arrest early yesterday in San Francisco of E. T. McDonald, 38, and J. H. Stricker, 32, Game Warden Earl Hiscox apprehended all members of a gang of deer spotlighters operating in this area.

Saturday Howard Welker, 47, was taken into custody.

Game Warden Hiscox was assisted in the cases by J. D. Raferty, law enforcement officer of the Tahoe National Forest.

The men were to appear before Justice of the Peace Charles Morehouse in Grass Valley today.

The three men pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Morehouse toda and each were sentenced to pay a fine of $500 or serve 250 days in the county jail.

McDonald is making arrangements to pay his fine. Stricker and Welker will probably serve their sentence in jai.

Will Coughlan, who has been ill a week, has recoveed.

When You Catch A Cold

The common cold is beginning to claim new victims as cool weather imposes itself upon the period of warm days.

Undoubtedly, the common cold is one of the scourges of mankind. Nearly every person is afflicted in the course of a year. The time lost by workers staggers the imagination, representing a serious problem to industry now packing up momentum in connection with national defense.

So far, the medical experts have no certain cure for a cold. This does not mean that you cannot be cured. In fact, nearly everyone that you talk with can give you a sure cure. The trouble is that the cures never seem to work the same on different people, or upon the same person the same way every time.

In connection with colds, it might be a good idea for everyone who catches a cold to give consideration to those about him. Indiscriminate sneezing, coughing and expectorating inevitably scatters germs which attacks others. A cold, it should be understood, is highly infectious and consequently, those afflicted should remember that they have a communicable disease.

The mistake that many men and women make in connection with a cold invites them to more serious maladies Doctors suggest that everyone with a cold should stay in bed. The system should be cleared and the patient should rest and sleep as much as possbile in order to build up body resistance.

Must We Die On The Highway?

Traffic fatalities showed a decided increase in the United States during recent months and safety experts are at a loss to explain the spurt in deaths due to automobile travel.

This reminds us to remind you, as a potential driver of an automobile, to resist the little impulses that sometimes lead an automobile driver to take a chance. Not only does the habit endanger the safety of the driver, and those in his car, but it is perilous to others who have done nothing to invite increased danger.

Regulations for traffic control represent the careful study of those who are giving their time to a serious effort to eliminate traffic dangers. Every automobilist should make it a point of honor to observe all traffic rules. This includes parking regulations. Highway patrolmen and other officers of the law should not hesitate to make cases against those who violate the rules of safety and courts, in which they appear, should not be reluctant to inflict fines.

Of course, a fine is not sufficient punishment for a person who operates a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcoholic drinks. The careless individual who recklessly invites homicide should be treated as a national peril. He should be punished as a common criminal and allowed to do some serious thinking in the solitude of a cell.

A Wise Fath r

Professor Samuel C. May, director of the bureau of public administration at the University of California and vice chairman of the State Defense Council, was forced to make a stern, probably heartbreaking decision last week. He publicly "disowned and disinherited" his son, Kenneth May, a teaching assistant in mathematics at the University, because the boy is an avowed Communist and a persistent disciple of the red cause.

There is aways tragedy in a break between father and son. There was undoubtedly bitter despair in Professor May's brief statement, "Kenneth seems to have a martyr complex." But if anything can bring a young man to his senses who has turned against the country that gave him birth, and has espoused the cause of its enemies, certainly his own father's decision and public reproach should achieve it. Professor May is a wise father; perhaps, when disillusionment sets in, he shall have a wise son.

When A Man's 36

With 16,500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 36 marching to registration booths on Wednesday, it's high time family councils as well as public spokesmen did a bit of highly important figuring and determined just when a man is 21 and when he is 36.

Offhand, there would seem to be no room for misunderstanding on a point so absolutely unarguable and statisitically verifiable as a man's age. We're leaving women's ages out of this. But frequently public reference is made to men only between the "ages of 31 and 35" being called. This is no doubt due to the belief that a man who has passed his 35th birthday, and is headed toward his 36th, is in his 35th year. This, of course, is not true. A man who has passed his 35th birthday but not yet reached his 36 birthday is in his 36th year and therefore, by terms of the Selective Service Act, eligible for conscription. A young man is not eligible for conscription until he has reached his 21st birthday.

We sincerely trust this hasn't compounded worse confusion and given rise to a new variation on the old query: "Which year was I A. D?" If you're in doubt, ask the registration officials on Wednesday to settle your age status. But don't ask the unarithmetical gentlemen, who, speaking of selective service, say it includes only men between 21 and 35.

"Where are you going?" inquired the ex-banker.

The customer explained in detail and then the ex-banker asked:

THE LIFE OF WENDELL WILLKIE - - - - - - - - From the Willkie Volunteers in Northern California

Wendell Willkie's wanderings in search of work, adventure and a knowledge of the world led him westward to Colorado where he ran a tent hotel for tourists, the forerunner of the tourist cabin camp and modern motor hotels.

Farther West he drifted along with many of the Western State migrants who go to California during the fruit and vegetable-picking seasons. He became for a time a vegetable picker and learned a good deal about the life of the migrant worker.

Then eastward he went again, this time into the cities to see what they had to offer him in the way of employment. Among the jobs he worked at as an urbanite was one he did not care much for, that of a bill collector.

His wanderlust finally led him as far afield as Puerto Rico, where he worked as a timekeeper tramping through the tropical sugar plantations, keeping track of the hours put in by the sweating laborers as they slashed cane. Later he became a chemist's aide.

NEVADA CITY DOWNS PLACERVILLE FOR 2ND VICTORY OF SEASON

Nevada City Eleven Plays Sparkling Ball To Take Measure of El Dorado County Football Players

Giving an indication of what the Grass Valley Miners may expect in the "Big Game" Armistice Day, the Nevada City Yellowjackets took the measure of the El Dorado Union High School of Placerville on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon. The score was 7 to 0.

The Yellowjacket supporters feel sure the local eleven can upset Grass Valley in the big game of the year if they play as they did against Placerville.

Nevada City put over the touchdown in the latter few minutes of the game to win. The score came when Jamerson blocked a Placerville kick near the goal line and pounced upon the ball to tally the touchdown. Muscardini took the ball on an end run to make the conversion.

Floyd Ruth Stars

The sparkling ball carrying of Floyd Ruth was the feature of the game. Ruth consistently took the ball for long gains and it was his great offensive work that finally put Placerville back against the goal. Jamerson then blocked the Placerville kick and the tide of victory swung in favor of the Yellowjackets.

In the B game the locals won over the Grass Valle B reserves by a score of 8 to 0. The touchdown came when Henwood recovered a Grass Valley fumble. Another fumble in the end zone in the final quarter gave the Yellowjackets their two additional points.

The Yellowjackets will undergo a strenuous practice this week in preparation for the game with the Placer Junior College Reserves.

The contests were the first of the season for the Miners in the Sierra foothill league.

In the B game the Miners led 7 to 6 at half time but Roseville pushed ove a touchdown in the final half to win. Grass Valley lost four opportunities to score in the A contest.

GAME WARDEN HISCOX NABS FOUR GAME LAW VIOLATORS

Four game violators in Placer and Nevada Counties were taken into custody by Game Warden Earl Hiscox last week. Fines were imposed in each case.

Vernon Woods of the Glenbrook district was arrested in the Blue Tent area with a spike buck in his possession. The deer was confiscated and taken to the county hospital by Game Warden Hiscox.

Mrs. Esther Bredstrand of Emigrant Gap was arrested for fishing without a license in Bear River and assessed $10 when she pleaded guilty before Justice Morehouse. Hiscox said she had three fish at the time he arrested her.

Olson used recommendations of superior judges for the original draft boards, the appeal boards, and the examining agents, all of whom are attorneys, and the California Medical Association and presidents of local medical societies chose the medical advisory boards.

For Nevada County Dr. Carl P. Jones was named as examining physician. Lynne Kelly, Grass Valley attorney, was selected as appeal agent.
